Gain Remote Time Entry Efficiency with Cloud-Based ExakTime

Manage overtime, avoid duplicate data entry, and reduce labor costs from anywhere, on any device.

A significant factor in job profitability is labor costs. Many projects require overtime to finish on schedule. If these costs are not carefully managed, overtime can quickly consume a large portion of the budget. Valuable time and productivity are also lost on confirming and approving employee work hours and paperwork.

Connecting ExakTime and Acumatica eliminates these issues and allows you to gain better control and visibility of your labor costs and administrative overhead.
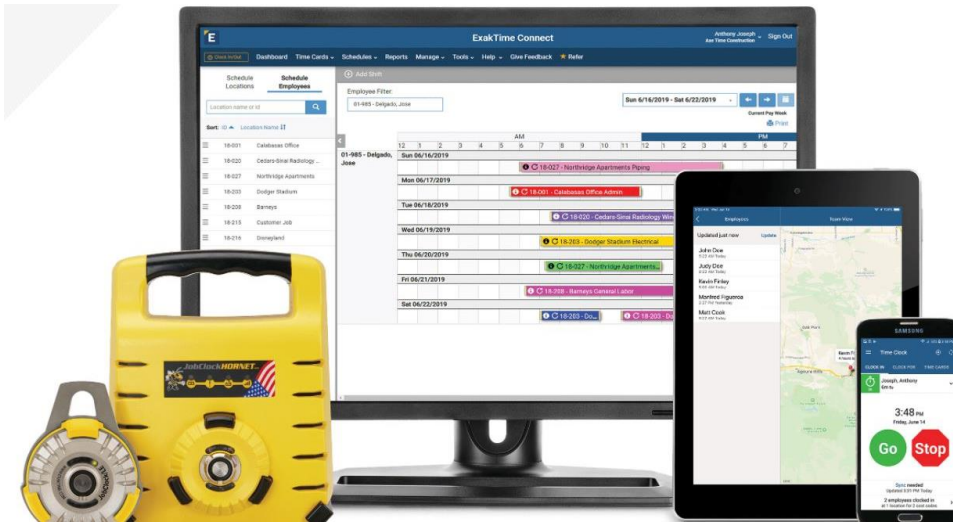

ExakTime, an Arcoro product, is the leader in time and attendance tracking for the construction industry. ExakTime originated with a contractor seeking a solution to inaccurate and misplaced timecards that were costing his business. Over two decades, it has evolved into a cloud-based solution integrated with a mobile time clock app that has unmatched ease-of-use that seamlessly integrates with Acumatica Construction Edition.

With the real-time connection between ExakTime and Acumatica Construction Edition, employees can record their time on a mobile device, eliminating the need for office staff to chase down paperwork. Once the data goes to Acumatica, the required fields are automatically filled in. Acumatica will then export updates—including employee, location, and cost code—back into ExakTime. This integration can help you manage overtime, eliminate duplicate data entry, and reduce labor costs.
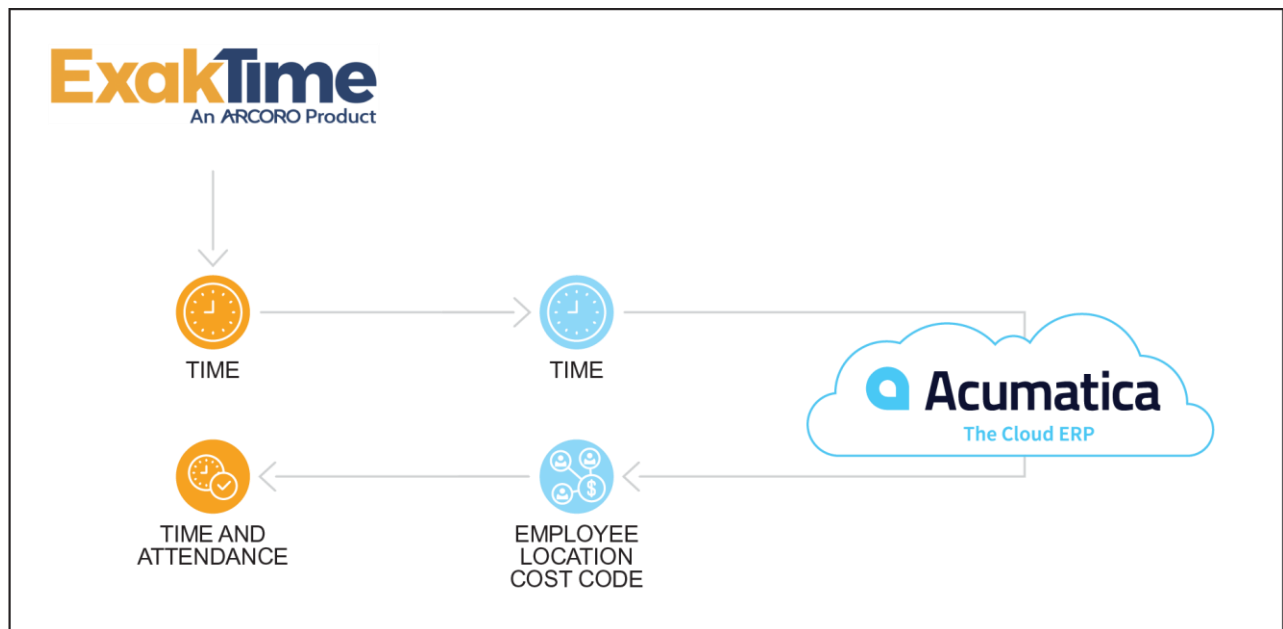

"Acumatica Construction Edition and ExakTime have increased our job accuracy surfacing hours worked on a job and the location of the job, giving us insight into project profitability."
